EXTENSION AND OUTREACH POLICY

The institution is dedicated to raising a generation who will actively participate in social activities. Our faculty and students are encouraged to work in tandem with other organizations to implement outreach and social extension initiatives that align with the college's vision and mission.

- The policy aims at expanding the outreach of students' involvement in society through NSS and NCC events, clubs, cells, initiatives and social/ environmental projects.
- The faculty in charge of the clubs and committees must take measures to provide necessary training to the student members before they begin working in communities.
- The College will offer proper facilities that can equip students to actively engage in community outreach initiatives.
- Participating in community outreach initiatives requires students to conduct appropriately on campus, in the community, and in online contacts.
- All students are expected to follow the college's guidelines, which include getting permission from parents or guardians, intimating the teachers and heads of their departments, and keeping track of their involvement.
- The students are required to keep a record of the community extension activities in the manner specified.
- At the end of each academic year, the activity reports must be submitted to the programme coordinator.
